FOREST INDUSTRY SAFETY SUMMIT

The Forest Industry Safety Summit saw a group of first class speakers who all provided excellent approaches to take to achieve the ultimate goal of Zero Harm in the workplace through creating blame free cultures and positive teamwork. What is apparent that excellence through expectations, ongoing accountability with high level communication, and a willingness to learn is essential. Steve Falk from Switchback Systems in Canada provided an entertaining way to consider how to understand yourself and each other better in the work place as a step forward to creating dynamic teams. His simple but humorous approach challenged attendees to think about their responses when an error was made— who saw me do it, I can solve this by myself, and surely I can bury the evidence. All the very things that we do not want happening. Learning to ask for help and helping others to be situation aware is the key to teamwork and of course creating the chance for others to consider what occurred and how everyone can avoid the same pitfall is important.

A recent survey among forestry workers rated what they saw as contributing to a 'Safe Workplace'. 42% team culture; 18% communication; 17% good equipment/machinery/PPE; 12% training; 11% health and safety. Whatever the outcome of any survey SAFE means (S) simple to use; (A) accessible to employees; (F) functional; and (E) evolving.

WAIKATO TRUCK LEGENDS

The Waikato Truck Legends McFall Fuel postcard has been released. Monique Haines, the Road Safety Coordinator at the Waikato Regional Council advised us, "your truck is very popular!" The photo sees the truck caught early in the morning at the Mount Maunganui yard just after it had been cleaned prior to the days work commencing. Each post card has the key specifications of the truck and a quote from the driver. McFall Fuel chose Te Awamutu driver Peter Ritsema's quote to support the Reduce the Risk campaign—"It is vital to carry our pre-departure checks, then turn your phone off and key on and of course drive to the conditions". Peter will have been with the Company for 29 years on May 26 this year which in itself is a legendary achievement.

McFALL FUEL OFFER ODOMETER READINGS FOR FUEL CARDS

BP has made some changes to the in-store odometer entry process allowing greater control of your fleet. The process is that drivers will now be prompted to enter the odometer reading using the EFTPOS pin pad. If you do not want the odometer information it is possible to skip this step.

This change will be rolled out across the BP network over the next few weeks and will be complete by early to mid April. When the rollout across the country is complete, this new process will be consistent for fuel card holders using BP Connect, BP 2go, and G.A.S sites.

If you have any questions or feedback do not hesitate to contact us on 0800 623 255 or speak to your sales person regarding this opportunity.

MEALS AT RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE

On April 23 McFall Fuel begin the first of their three visits to Ronald McDonald's Domain Road House on the Auckland Hospital Campus. It has been a privilege to travel to Auckland and prepare the meal for the families who are living there while they cope with the daily demands of their extremely ill children. Lubricant Logistics Manager, Andy Fullerton is extremely pleased that the staff and their supporters are looking to do the three meal visits again this year. "What sets us apart is that we take all the food up, set up the meal and then interact with the families. Listening to the families stories is seen as absolutely huge by the staff on site. Having been there, it is so heartening to see how our team really get involved. Staff know it is a very late week night but they still volunteer each time. It has been great to have staff from BP, RCK, and Fuchs join us and it has been fantastic to have the ongoing support of Mount New World, BP, Taylor Brothers, Cols, Nosh, and others."

McFall Fuel are happy to take any donations such as books and toys to the House or have people join them and be part of a very unique and special opportunity.

PIONEER CONTRACTORS CONFERENCE

McFall Fuel are proud to sponsor this annual conference which is the signature event for maize growers throughout New Zealand. The event will be in the Bay of Islands at the Copthorne Resort & Hotel with Davey Hughes aka the Swazi Man as the guest speaker and the Topp Twins as a great nights entertainment along with a series of business sessions over the three days.

The event which has been running since 1998 provides a platform for contractors to gain further technical knowledge and maize industry updates as well as offering a chance for the various business sectors who contribute to the ongoing success of the contractors businesses the chance to network.
