

INTERNATIONAL IN DEMAND FOR FUNDRAISERS

The McFall Fuel International is proving to be very popular for community events and fund raisers along with "Bush Breakfasts" held for customers for which it was originally designed. The two BBQ's on the tray make it ideal to work as a fundraiser. The Pukeatua School, (top left), and the Aquinas College (bottom right) Basketball Team enjoyed having the International to use at their recent events.

"We are really pleased that the International is able to be used to help schools and people within the Community raise funds. On November 26 we are supporting 'Screamin Horsepower' which is being held at BayPark to raise funds for a Hyperbaric Oxygen Chamber to make life a little easier for a Multiple Sclerosis sufferer. The International along with the Lubricant Truck will be supporting the event which will display trucks, classic cars, vintage cars and other vehicles," said GM Commercial Rick Williams.

CHAMPIONS FOR HEALTH & SAFETY

McFall Fuel is involved with several industry safety initiatives which are focused on how PCBU's can work together successfully to ensure that everyone gets home safely. The Fuel Distributors Industry Safety Committee are looking to make sure that industry policies and practices are equitable, sensible, and reasonable to follow when it comes to taking responsibility for all aspects of safety, environmentalism, and compliance. While the Authorized Visitors & Service Providers Project for Forestry has covered key principles for overlapping PCBU's to consider. "McFall Fuel has developed a simple set of Forestry & Inter Machine Guidelines and Non-Negotiables with the aim of achieving clarity around responsibility for all those working on the same site. We are very pleased with the response to date from those who we have discussed the Forestry Handbook with," said Sheryl Dawson.

CALF CLUB DAYS FULL OF EXCITEMENT

McFall Fuel has supported a number of Calf Club Days over the past two months. It is great to see the traditions of calling the lamb still happening and the calves being led and well groomed for the judges to assess. However, there is a whole new dimension which sees calves dressed up as part of the fun. This youngster went to a great deal of trouble putting her calf in Pyjamas right down to the pants both back and front and turning up in her own suit to be a Friesian calf.

HOUSE OF SCIENCE
RAISING SCIENTIFIC LITERACY

McFall Fuel has just commenced a sponsorship arrangement with the House of Science to support the development of a unit on Fossil Fuels. The programme began as the vision of Chris Duggan who wanted to raise scientific literacy throughout the Western Bay of Plenty. The success has been such that this will now become a National Programme. The charitable trust develops a variety of creative resources which are offered as kits developed for in classroom teaching, professional development for teachers, along with out of school science opportunities. "With 74% of the Primary Schools not having effective science programmes in place the kits are a huge help for schools and their learners. It is great to be able to support schools in a positive way," said CEO Sheryl Dawson.
